DETAILED ACTION

1. The examiner acknowledges applicant's amendments to claims 28-44 and the addition of new claim 45.

Claim Objections

2. Claims 28, 41, and 45 are objected to because of the following informalities:
 - a. In regards to claims 28 and 45, the language used within the phrase "to be moveable both with and relative to the primary bolt" in the claims is unclear. A suggested change to this phrase is "to be moveable together with the primary bolt and relative to the primary bolt" for clarification of the movement capabilities of the secondary bolt.
 - b. In regards to claim 41, it is suggested that the phrase "an indication visually apparent from externally of the body of the latch device" should be changed to "an indication visually apparent from an external surface of the body of the latch device" for clarification. In accordance with this suggested change, the phrase "an external surface of the body" in the last line of the claim should be changed to "the external surface of the body."

Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

3. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.
4. Claims 41-44 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. Specifically, in view of the figures it is unclear how the distal end of the elongate member of the indicator slidingly engages an opening in the external surface of the body when it is clear from the figures that it passes through the opening. For examination purposes, the claim will be given a broad interpretation until further clarification from applicant.

5. Claim 42-44 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. Specifically, it is clear from the figures that the device is provided with two cover elements, whereas, the phrase "one or more" in the claim suggests that there can be more than two cover elements. It is suggested that this phrase be changed to recite that the device has two cover elements.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

6. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

7. Claims 41 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Pullen (US-5927769).

8. In regards to claim 41, Pullen discloses a self-latching device including a latch body 10 having a primary bolt 30 mounted for sliding movement in the body between a latching position (Figures 1 and 2) where, in use, the primary bolt engages in a latching configuration with a strike 19 (Figure 1) and a retracted position (Figure 3). Pullen further discloses an opening element 22a, 22b, 28 operatively coupled to the primary bolt (Figure 2) to enable the primary bolt to be removed from the latching position to the retracted position (apparent from Figures 2 and 8). Pullen also discloses a retaining means 32 to retain the primary bolt in the retracted position (Figure 3) and a release member 40, 42 moveable independent of the primary bolt to effect release of the retaining means to release the primary bolt and enable it to move from the retracted position to the latching position (Col. 5, lines 1-13).

Pullen discloses an indicator means 70, 76 moveable in response to movement of the primary bolt (apparent from Figure 8) to provide an indication visually apparent from an external surface of the body of the latch device (movement of 70, 76 between position shown in Figure 7 to position shown in Figure 8) being in a latching (Figure 2) or non-latching configuration (Figure 8). Pullen further discloses that the indicator includes an elongate member (portions near reference characters 76 and 70, Figure 7) with a distal end (end of portion 76 above reference character 76 and end of portion 70 below reference character 70, Figure 7) slidingly engaged in an opening 78a, 78b in the external surface of the body (Figure 7).

Allowable Subject Matter

9. Claims 28-40 and 45 would be allowable if the suggested change as noted above or similar language is included within claims 28 and 45 for clarification of the movement capabilities of the secondary bolt with respect to the primary bolt.

Art Unit: 3673

10. Claims 42-44 would be allowable if rewritten to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, 2nd paragraph, of claim 42 set forth in this Office action and to include all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Response to Arguments

11. Applicant's arguments filed 6 August 2007 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

12. In response to applicant's argument that the references fail to show certain features of applicant's invention, it is noted that the features upon which applicant relies (i.e., the secondary bolt is moveably engaged within the primary bolt) are not recited in the rejected claim(s). Although the claims are interpreted in light of the specification, limitations from the specification are not read into the claims. Furthermore, the engagement of retaining means 32 with the primary bolt allows the secondary bolt to be "moveably engaged with" the primary bolt.

13. The examiner would like to note that after further review of the claims, a rejection of claim 41 is set forth as discussed above.

14. The examiner acknowledges applicant's amendments to the drawings and therefore withdraws the drawing objections set forth in the previous office action.
